

MAC LESSON #30

NEW CALCULATOR TRICKS

The calculator that comes with the Mac Tiger Operating System can do some interesting tricks. Here are a few that I find really useful. You'll find it in the Applications folder.

On the calculator menu bar at the top of your screen, click on View. Now you can select a Basic, Scientific or Programming calculators, and you can even click on Show Paper Tape to display your entries and calculations.

Click on Speech and you can have the calculator voice every button you click on or voice calculation totals.

Click on Convert and you can convert a number to another form of the number after selecting the conversion format you want to use. For example, you can convert U.S. dollars to dollars from Australia. The converter grabs the latest conversion values from the Internet.
