

MAC LESSON #54

PRINT A MINI-ADDRESS BOOK

If you use your Mac OS X Address Book; you can print a nice, small printout of all the contacts you've entered. It's easy. Here's how.

Open your Address Book, click on the word "All" in the left column, and make sure no individual contacts have been clicked on (or you'll print out an Address Book listing with just one address.)

From the File menu at the top of the Address Book window, choose Print. When the Print dialog box appears, click on the up or down area to the right of the Style section and choose Pocket Address Book.

Click on Print, and in a minute or two you'll have your own printed mini-address book. You never know when it will come in handy, and since it's small, you can carry it in your iPod case.

